Analyze key components of the course,* including: examining the background, capabilities, prior knowledge, etc. of the students; determining goals for learning; and identifying pedagogical strengths, preferences, etc. of the instructor.

While we are using the course as the unit for analysis in this diagram and the accompanying worksheets, an entire curriculum or an individual class can undergo a similar strategic analysis.

*While we are using the course as the unit for analysis in this diagram and the accompanying worksheets, an entire curriculum or an individual class can undergo a similar strategic analysis.